About Double Bay Public School

School Vision

It is the vision of Double Bay Public School to create the conditions for every student to learn and be successful. It is an expectation at our school that all students will develop foundation skills in literacy and numeracy, with strong content knowledge, and the ability to learn, adapt and be responsible and motivated citizens.

School Motto

The School Motto is a visual representation of the school's philosophy: Kindness and Courtesy.

The motto emphasises the importance of respect for each other, responsibility for our own actions and a safe, welcoming environment.

Kindness and Courtesy

With its philosophy of “Kindness and Courtesy” Double Bay Public School promotes and acknowledges a shared responsibility that everyone contributes to creating a safe, inclusive and supportive environment. It supports the development of emotional intelligence and positive citizenship, ensuring that kindness and courtesy are embedded not only in expectations, but in everyday practice and culture.

History of the School

Double Bay Public School was opened in 1883. Mr Alexander McPhee was appointed as the school’s first headmaster.

There was an enrolment of about 62 pupils. The main school building was constructed of red brick with some sandstone facing. There was also a wooden rear building and brick residence. By the end of 1903 the enrolments had risen to over 120 pupils.

The school has long been part of the harbourside village community of Double Bay, with local children attending and the school participating in community life as the area grew and changed through the early 1900s.

Local Heritage

The Aboriginal people who were the first inhabitants of Double Bay called the area 'Diendgulla' and when they lived here it was a place of sandy beaches, dense bush, sandstone ridges and freshwater streams.

In 1796 the two indentations of the bay were names Keltie Bay and Blackburn Cover after the Masters of the ships the 'Sirius' and 'Supply' which formed a part of the First Fleet and because a point of land so clearly divided the bay it soon became known as the double bay. By 1821 it had become 'Double Bay' as it is today.

The Cadigal people were a coastal clan of the Eora Nation whose traditional lands spanned much of the southern side of Port Jackson (Sydney Harbour) — including areas around today's eastern suburbs such as Woollahra and Double Bay.

The Birrabirragal (or Bidiagal) were another local clan associated with the harbour headland and coastal areas around what is now Watsons Bay and the eastern edge of the harbour

Curriculum

Differentiation

Students learn at different rates and in different ways. Through differentiated planning and programming, teachers cater to students' varying abilities, learning styles and interests. At Double Bay Public School differentiation occurs in every classroom and includes a range of activities and resources appropriate for students with different learning needs and levels of achievement. It is about developing higher-order thinking and creative and critical thinking skills. It is also about providing opportunities for individual, collaborative and whole class group work.

Excursions & Special Programs

Excursions and Special Programs enhance the school curriculum. An excursion will be scheduled by the class teacher as part of a particular area of learning. It will typically occur within school hours. A special program will often involve specialist teachers on school site school working with the class teacher to give focused expertise in a particular area.

It is the school's aim to give plenty of prior notice about an excursion or special program. If financial assistance is required to ensure student participation in an excursion or special program, parents & carers are requested to contact the principal.

Education at a Public School

Primary education includes whole-class, group and individual activities designed to develop an enquiring mind and teach basic learning skills needed for schooling and later life.

Literacy and numeracy are the building blocks of learning and that is why English and mathematics take up half of students' learning time in primary school.

Kindergarten to Year 6 focuses on six key learning areas:

- English
- Mathematics
- Science and Technology
- Human Society and Its Environment (HSIE)
- Personal Development, Health and Physical Education (PDHPE)
- Creative Arts

Primary school in NSW follows a curriculum based on stages of learning. Each stage is approximately equivalent to two school years. For each learning stage there are skills, knowledge and a level of understanding that each student should develop.

- Early Stage 1 refers to Kindergarten
- Stage 1 includes Years 1 and 2
- Stage 2 includes Years 3 and 4
- Stage 3 includes Years 5 and 6

The NSW Education Standards Authority (NESA) develops a syllabus for each of the learning areas. Along with a defined aim, each syllabus has a set of objectives and outcomes, expressed in terms of knowledge and understandings, skills, values and attitudes.

Catering for all students

Double Bay Public School is about creating a whole school quality learning environment with a strong focus on high levels of intellectual quality for all students. Every day, classroom teachers teach a range of interesting and engaging lessons that enable all students to think deeply and use higher order thinking skills. They plan carefully to meet the additional learning and support needs of every student in their class.

With the range of abilities at Double Bay Public School, it is important to ensure that individual students are given extra opportunities to succeed in their particular area of interest. The school does this through our enrichment offerings.

Throughout the year teachers will coordinate particular programs and initiatives. For example, the school takes its capable swimmers to the zone carnival, its public speakers to inter-school debating competitions and runs enrichment programs for children with ability in Creative Arts.

Home Reading

Home reading is an important part of our school curriculum. It involves all students, from Kindergarten to Year Six, spending about 20 minutes each school night reading independently or with an adult.

Home reading is a time to read books from school, the local library or home. Magazines, graphic novels, newspapers or any appropriate reading material of interest to students may also be used. Children may read in silence, out loud to an adult or peer or be read to. A combination could be used throughout the week.

It is important to keep a record of nights for home reading because each term the school celebrate reading with a special Reading Morning Tea.

Home reading is a whole school commitment and is about developing strong skills to enable children enjoy reading and be a competent, lifelong reader.

Homework

Homework is assigned on a regular basis. The purpose of homework is to practise, extend and consolidate work done in class. Homework will reinforce concepts covered in class; provide a focus for independent research and a time to complete special projects. Homework is challenging and purposeful but set at a manageable level depending on the learning needs of a particular student.

The amount of daily homework varies depending on the age and ability of the individual student. It should not be so demanding that it has adverse effects on the student's motivation. Upon occasion a parent might need to negotiate homework expectations with the class teacher.

Homework reaffirms the role of parents and caregivers as partners in education. It also provides training for students, particularly in the later primary years, in planning and organising time.

Homework Club

The Homework Club caters for students from Years 3 to 6 and is conducted in the Stage 3 area every Tuesday from 3pm to 4:00pm. Students can work individually, in small groups with a teacher or with a tutor. Students wishing to enrol in Homework Club must have a signed permission note.
