Class Spotlight KM

Our school's littlest learners continue to have fun learning at school.

In mathematics, students have been exploring concepts with lots of hands-on activities. Using the new Fairy Garden sand, they used the terms full, empty and half full to describe the contents of containers. They learnt that objects can have the same volume but look different. They also built models with different volumes and challenged a partner to replicate the models.

To investigate the concept of area, students have designed different sized wallaby caves, and they have compared which water 'splat' has the largest area. What is superimposing? Does the shape of the container affect how much water it can hold? How can we describe the area of the splats? These are just some of the questions students have been answering as they learn that maths is everywhere.

Kindergarten has also been learning in science about the properties of different materials, such as cardboard, wood and metal. They have been discovering that everyday items are made from materials to help suit their purpose. Furniture made from cardboard is not very strong, although it is cheap, light and can be recycled (like the Paris Olympic athlete beds).

KM show curiosity in everything they do, not just in maths and science. Every day it's a joy to watch these young minds grow.

CAPERS

Capers (Creative Arts Public Education Regional Spectacular) . Show 2025 is here, called - Tapestry, threads of talent, one masterpiece. We are thrilled to continue Nemingha Public School's long-standing tradition of being part of this incredible celebration of the arts. This year, 116 of our students will be performing across three shows at the Tamworth Regional Entertainment Conference Centre (TRECC). I'd like to sincerely thank our students and staff for their dedication throughout rehearsals and preparations, as well as our wonderful parents for their ongoing support and encouragement. We're in for a big weekend celebrating creativity and talent, with our students involved as featured artists, featured dancers, choir members, stage dancers, and in cultural performances—what an achievement!

Please keep an eye on school notes and our social media platforms for any last-minute updates. A huge thank you to everyone involved in coordinating this event—your teamwork and enthusiasm make it all possible.

Congratulations to all 24 students who undertook the Australian Speech and Communication Association (ASCA) examinations last term. We enjoyed a variety of speeches, ranging from pets and stories to holiday recounts, and from informative talks about WWII to presentations on AI. Our Year 6 students outdid themselves with practical demonstrations, acting as experts on topics such as snowboarding and guided tours of Egyptian gods.

Nemingha Public School is extremely proud of each of you. Students' results are posted below.
