Special religious education participation

A feature of the public education system in NSW is the opportunity to provide time in class for education in ethics, faith and morality from a religious or non-religious perspective at the choice of parents.

The school website provides information on these options to support parent/carer choice.

Quakers Hill High School provides opt in Special Religious Education for students each Wednesday morning during the extended roll call period. Anglican SRE is the only current option; however, students from other denominations and religions are welcome to attend with parent permission.

A parent/carer may at any time notify the school in writing that they wish to change their decision. Students will continue the same arrangement as the previous year, unless a parent/carer has requested a change in writing.

For more information about the Special Religious Education curriculum provided (SRE) please see Think Faith's Stage 4A Scope and Sequence.

Students who are not attending SRE are given supervised alternative meaningful activities such as quiet reading during the roll call session.

The following options are available at Quakers Hill High School. Please choose one.
